We have attempted in this 1945 MILESTONES to picture for each girl her Ward-Belmont days. In so doing the fictitious letter of an alumna is used. Thus all our efforts have been directed toward producing a personal and distinctive yearbook.

So ends another MILESTONES. With sadness we leave the old typewriter silent, bid farewell to the untidy desk, and leave the little office with the fond hope that next year's staff will find there the same good times that we have had.

Dear Ward-Belmont girls,

As I take up my pen in this year of '45, it is in the spirit of one whose thoughts dwell often with you. Perhaps our personal acquaintance shall never be, yet in an intangible sense we are more than friends. You, too, have walked the familiar campus that I have traveled o'er thousands of times in a nostalgic memory, for I am one of many girls who can never forget the carefree days, the friendships and parting tears of dear W.B. — I miss it, and so will you.

You'll always have a warm spot in your heart for girlish laughter, pigtails, and sloppy clothes, magnolias in the spring. Then there's one memory which will never fade... those cold chills which tingled up and down your spine when your classmates burst forth with the beloved "Bells of Ward-Belmont." May this feeling symbolize the "milestone" which will always be yours.

"SPECIAL DELIVERY"

To the man who displays an untiring energy, typifying the real Ward-Belmont spirit that we all strive to obtain, we wish to pay tribute. His is the organ music which makes chapel services more impressive. It is he who plays the famous chimes in the old tower that bring a serious and misty expression to the eyes of each girl, making her realize more fully the beauty that is the heart of her Alma Mater.

In appreciation for his many years of faithful and unceasing service we wish to dedicate our nineteen hundred forty-five MILESTONES to Mr. F. Arthur Henkel.

"a friend in need is a friend indeed" — in a quoting mood, aren't we? Not being philosophical, but just trying to give you a bit of advice. Learn now, my dears, to appreciate your elders. An older mind is more capable than yours. We trust our friend, trusts another — relying on their counsel and wisdom.

Administration

DR. JOSEPH E. BURK

President

The kind smile and sympathetic understanding of Doctor Burk will make him long remembered by every Ward-Belmont girl. His personal interest in all phases of school life and his proven executive ability mark him as an able and outstanding president of the school.

MR. CHARLES P. HOGARTH

Dean of Faculty

Always ready to offer encouragement and advice, Dean Hogarth ranks as a favorite among the students and faculty. Problems dissolve, replaced by desire for higher scholastic attainments under his capable guidance.

MISS ANNIE ALLISON

Principal of Preparatory School

The gracious charm of the principal of the preparatory school extends to every girl on the campus. Fondly termed "Miss Annie" by her students, she has a sympathetic solution for all their problems.

MR. ALAN IRWIN

Conservatory of Music*

This genial person has distinguished himself by his outstanding abilities in the field of music. His patience and unfailing reassurance have encouraged many a music student to greater achievements.

MISS GERTRUDE CASEBIER

Student Counselor

There is no problem too small to merit the concern and understanding of this lady. For her sincerity, good humor, and cordiality Miss Casebier has the admiration and appreciation of every Ward-Belmont girl.

MR. TIMOTHY G. DONOVAN

Business Manager

In one year Mr. Donovan has proved himself adept at managing the school's financial affairs. His ready smile and pleasing manner mark him as a most worthy member of the administrative staff.

MISS ALMA PAINÉ

Registrar

Miss Paine's charming personality typifies the true Ward-Belmont spirit. Her consideration creates for each new girl the first home-like atmosphere she encounters at school. Affable and obliging she is a pleasure to know.

Senior-Middle Class

The largest group of freshmen ever to begin a pursuit of higher education at Ward-Belmont formed a spirited, cooperative, and hard-to-beat Senior-Middle Class.

Class spirit was welded when the Mids won the hockey game on the Senior-Senior-Middle Day in November, and this same spirit never failed in their many subsequent defeats. It was a battered bunch of Middies who limped into the dining room after the basketball and bowling games, but their enthusiasm was still high.

Patriotism was the keynote of the annual Senior-Senior-Middle Banquet in March. The girls voted as a class to donate the money to the Red Cross that is usually spent on decorations. Although the dining room remained unchanged for the occasion, the knowledge that this money was aiding a great cause compensated for the lack of decorations. A cleverly presented program written by Ann Marshall highlighted this traditional entertainment for the Seniors.

The highest class average ever made at Ward-Belmont was achieved by the Mids during the fall semester. The unusual "brains" proved themselves to be all-around girls—in the conservatory, publications department, and all other aspects of school life.

This class, enthusiastic and confident, is looking forward to "greener fields"—a wonderful year as the Seniors of 1946.

The Preparatory School underclassmen have been a "helping hand" in all Ward-Belmont activities this year. The Freshman Class, led by Nancy Denny, added their usual note of vivacity around the campus. Little prexy Jean Ward spurred the Sophomores on to unlimited successes. The capable Juniors came through with the usual flying colors under the guidance of Betty Bruce Cate.

The "prep" underclassmen added this year, as always, much needed "life" to the school. They are our little "eager beavers"—the girls on whom W.-B. looks with pride, secretly knowing that they will be the next upperclassmen.

This student judiciary meets every Tuesday evening to consider the misdemeanors of their classmates. Each case is carefully considered, and when the decision is made, the offender realizes that she has been shown the justice that characterizes the organization.

This year the Student Council planned an Orientation Week, under the direction of Mary Richards, which formed the beginnings of a feeling of good will between the two classes. The student body and the administration worked together to make Ward-Belmont a better place.

BOARDING STUDENT COUNCIL

DAY STUDENT COUNCIL

To this group of students come the day students who have violated any of the rules of the school and those who wish to make helpful suggestions. This organization dispenses majors, minors, and warnings with equal fairness and forms the connecting link between school administration and day students. When court adjourns, these youthful judges are in no way distinguished from the student body, for each one is well known as an individual. The exceptional deportment of these students shows the interest of the Day Student Council in helping to maintain a smoothly-running part of their student government.

The Preparatory Boarding Student Council, organized to give the high school boarders their own self-government, is a working example of school democracy. This group acts as interpreter of the school rules and as judge of misdemeanors. The experience makes the members better fitted to live in a world of democracy.

The weekly report of the group passes into the hands of a special advisory board and back again in approved form for posting in Heron Hall. Here the notice is read by the girls who realize that the decision represents the opinion of their classmates and is therefore beyond reproach.

PREPARATORY BOARDING STUDENT COUNCIL

Y. W. C. A.

Under the capable leadership of President Anne Warnock, the Ward-Belmont Y. W. C. A. has this year broken records in the promotion of extensive and important services on and off campus. Its activities are varied and interesting. Provision for war work has been through special committees such as those for the World Student Service Fund and Thayer Hospital Entertainment. For the first time, student speakers have conducted Sunday evening Vesper Services.

Working with Anne, the new sponsor, Miss Susanna Wilder, a national "Y" secretary, has brought new ideas and new successes to the diligent and effective cabinet.

The services and broad influences of the "Y" have been felt by all girls.

Keeping the campus posted on Ward-Belmont news and, for the first time this year, on world events, the Ward-Belmont Hyphen reaches the students and faculty every Friday night. With Bunny Lawler and Ruth Evans, editor and associate editor, handling the editorial and make-up angle, Mary Richards and Joan Forsythe lending humor to the feature page, Sue Conyne looking to news value, and Miss Doris Leach advising the whole situation, the Hyphen is always "Johnny-on-the-spot" from the presses to you.

CHIMES

A sparkling new format made this year's Chimes ache to be held and read from the foreword to the last page. Consisting entirely of student work, the magazine has served not only as an outlet for literary endeavors, but has also been a source of much pleasure to the reading public.

The editor, Peggy Freeman, has combined hard work and enthusiasm and, joined by a faithful and energetic staff, has made great progress in modernizing and giving interest to the publication. Lending her capable and constructive guidance to this organization, Dr. Minnie E. Wells has seen Chimes rise high in Ward-Belmont life.

The purpose of the Athletic Association is to promote comradeship, good sportsmanship, and fair play. With Jean Whitson as president and Miss Catherine Morrison as sponsor, the Athletic Association plays an active part in life at Ward-Belmont. Besides the five officers, there are eight athletic managers who are chosen for their outstanding abilities in the respective sports. Girls may become active members of the Association by making one varsity or three club teams. The Association arouses interest in athletics and offers healthy competition.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club was organized under the leadership of Mrs. Sargent and Mrs. Walker, teachers in this department. A candlelight service for initiation of new members began the club activities. Each week a formal meeting was held with a program featuring speakers on fashion, glassware, cooking, and occasionally a style show sponsored by one of the local department stores. Additional activities included a style show presented to the student body featuring clothes made by the Home Economics students, also an annual picnic held at Percy Warner Park.

Although a newcomer in the Ward-Belmont organizations, the Home Economics Club this year merited well its place on the "list" as shown by those practical members who were always on hand to prove that "a stitch in time saves nine."

CHEMISTRY CLUB

A Chemistry Club was organized this year for the first time under the sponsorship of Dr. Morrow, Mrs. Mathias, and Mrs. Dakon. Regular meetings were built around talks on cosmetics, synthetic products of the future, and meetings of the American Chemical Society. In conclusion some unusual experiment of interest to all was performed. A tea was given at the end of the year for faculty and student members in the department. Displays of work were shown and tours were conducted through the laboratory.

At the close of such a successful venture, the future looks very promising for next year's Chemistry Club.

Twice each year members selected on a basis of scholarship and citizenship are initiated into the Delta Xi Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, Junior College Honorary Scholastic Society. The object of the organization is to promote scholarship, develop character, and cultivate fel-

BETA CLUB

Composed of those girls who have excelled in scholarship, leadership, and character, the Beta Club is an organization whose membership is coveted by preparatory students. Under the able guidance of Mrs. E. G. Rasmussen, sponsor, the members strive to promote greater school spirit. An annual bridge party is held, and the proceeds derived therefrom are given to the American Red Cross.

SPEECH DEPARTMENT

A chance to experience "footlight fever," and that "before the curtain rises," excitement is given to all the girls in the Speech Department. Under the capable supervision of Miss Catharine Winnia and Miss Nell Hill, the girls study and practice the fundamentals of speech and stage production.

A Christmas Nativity play and the Easter offering of "Everyman" were productions of the year's efforts, and the year was climaxed by the presentation of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night." On these occasions such promising actresses as Carol Bay, Marjorie Purcell, Carrolyn Kelton, Ann Rees, Lyn Dresser, Jean DeMoss made their bows.

ART CLUB

This may be titled the "more seen than heard" group, as their works are displayed everywhere on the campus from the Hyphen office to Acklen. Headquarters may be found on the third floor of Big "Ac," where the future artists enjoy their studies under the supervision of Miss Mary W. Shackelford.

This organization sponsors during the year exhibits of famous American contemporary artists, thus giving students an otherwise impossible opportunity of broadening their appreciation of good art.

Fine Arts Week is traditionally begun each year by a tea and exhibition given by this club. The highlighting event on their calendar, however, is the display of student work during graduation week.

The Penstaff Club, organized to encourage an interest in creative writing among the high school students, meets twice a month. At these meetings the girls discuss the qualities of good writing and criticize the poetry, essays, and stories composed by the members. Only through competition is membership in this club attained.

ROUND-TABLE CLUB

The Round-Table Club was organized this year for the first time by Miss Vera Hay, teacher of history in the preparatory school. All Ward-Belmont students were invited to join. A dinner, followed by a discussion of current events given by five members, comprises the monthly meetings.

The able president is Nancy Hollingsworth. She is aided by Jeannette Smith and Evelyn Dickenson.

The club's aim, to cultivate an interest in current events so that the students may have a better understanding of the problems facing the world today, has been fully realized.

LE CERCLE FRANCAISE

French scholars find that their study of the language is made very interesting and entertaining through the meetings of this club. Bridge and various other games are played in French, thus affording the girls much enjoyment as well as opportunity to increase their conversational ability.

GERMAN CLUB "Sprechen Sie das Deutsch?" No, this is not a fifth column but rather a group of German students who meet several times during the year to practice German speech and discuss events pertaining to Germany and its people. By conversing in German, the girls have added to their vocabulary, increased their knowledge of common idioms, and improved their accent.

SPANISH CLUB "Si, Señor Donner," is the smiling comment when the Spanish Club meets. Merry President M. J. McCoy has conducted interesting programs this year consisting of talks on Spanish customs, manners, and people. There was much fun while the girls learned the words to several Spanish songs, as the pronunciation brought signs of amusement to the faces of genial sponsors, Dr. Givens and Mr. Donner.

Conservatory

Conservatory Activities

The various organizations and activities of the Conservatory inspire in each girl who participates and in each girl who is privileged to be a part of the audience a greater appreciation of music. The Choir, Glee Club, Southern Belles, Orchestra, Captivators, and College Octet are all well-known campus entertainers.

Among the outstanding events of this year was the Beethoven Festival, in which piano students presented four programs of Beethoven's sonatas and shorter works. The Ward-Belmont Chamber Music Society, a group of students, professional performers, and members of the faculty, was featured in Sunday afternoon programs of famous compositions for strings. The climax of the music year was the Fine Arts Festival, which was held during the first part of May. This series of programs included concerts by the Ward-Belmont Orchestra, Choir, Glee Club, and various members of the faculty.

The concert series this year was unusually good; and the students were privileged to hear such outstanding artists as William Primrose, violinist; the Hart House String Quartet; Dr. Frank Asper, organist; Ida Krehm, pianist; the Moore Ballet Group; and Miss Marion Keighley Snowden, noted lecturer.

GLEE CLUB

Not only those girls who are studying music as a part of their academic work, but also girls who are interested in music extracurricularly are invited to join this group. The direction of Mr. Sydney Dalton makes profitable the twice weekly rehearsals. This year the Choir and Glee Club combined to give musical background for the Christmas Nativity play; they also presented a joint concert during the Fine Arts Festival in May.

ORCHESTRA

The Ward-Belmont Orchestra combines student and Nashville talent, and its appearances are always greeted with much anticipation. Mr. Kenneth Rose is both director and solo violinist for the group. This year the orchestra presented a symphony concert during the Fine Arts Festival featuring Kathryn Rose as piano soloist. The twenty-seventh year of its existence finds the orchestra an important part of Nashville and Ward-Belmont culture.

CHOIR

The atmosphere of reverence which permeates the Wednesday morning devotionals and monthly church services in the chapel is due in great measure to the Ward-Belmont Choir. The unfailing loyalty of this organization, the director, Mr. Sydney Dalton, and their accompanist, Mr. Arthur Henkel, makes this one of the most worthy organizations on campus.

COLLEGE SINGERS

The College Singers, an octet under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Adams, was organized in September, 1943. This group presents programs of madrigals, classics, sacred and secular music. The members are Eleanor Jones, Sally Welch, Twila Comer, sopranos; Mary Richards, Bettye McLean, Harriet Cary, second sopranos; Lita Stecker and Virginia Brega, altos. Popular music has been added this year for programs presented in Nashville and for the entertainment of convalescent soldiers.

With the first strains of "I'm in the Mood for Love," W.-B.ers relax in their chapel seats to swoon to the music of their own Captivators. Attractive Delly McCann gives the "down beat," and the band gives forth with their rendition of popular tunes, while charming Twila Comer does the vocal honors. The girls of the orchestra, directed by Lorell McCann and sponsored by Miss Kathryn Rose, are: Drums: ELIZABETH HART; Bass Violin: MARY BETH MEADE; Saxophones: DELORES LEIBROCK, JUNE WILSON, MOLLIE FRED JONES, PATTY REEME, and NANCY ATTWOOD; Clarinets: CAROL ANDERSON and JOAN SCHOFF; Trumpets: SHIRLEY CORROUGH and MARJORIE MALEN; Flutes: MARY LOU PHELPS and BARBARA PING; Accordion: MARGENE YOUNG; Piano: DOROTHY NEALE; Vocalist: TWILA COMER.

SOUTHERN BELLES

This string group adds to its light and melodious repertoire a delightful Southern touch. The Southern Belles performed for a chapel program and the George Washington festivities as well as playing for churches, organizations, and special programs off campus. The girls under the leadership of Mr. Kenneth Rose are: Violin: NANCY KELLOGG, MARY GENE CRAIN, JO LENON, MARY LAURA CANNON, DONNA HANNEKEN, FRANCES RAGLAND, and BETTY BRYANT; Violoncello: ROSEMARY REYNOLDS; Bass Violin: MARY GILLESPIE; Harp: HELEN ELIZABETH KEITH; Piano: JEAN HERNDON.

"Ground, sticks," and a rush forward started the keen competition, zeal, and thrills that were highlighted in club and class games. Each club dreams of winning the hockey cup, but this dream was a reality for the Penta Taus when they defeated the Tri K's 4-2 in the most spectacular event of the season.

Varsity, and skillful marksmanship was portrayed with every shot by stars: Mary Lena Faulk, Mary Jean Hoffman, Regina McGorge, Faylese Scharff, and Betty Hughes.

Most eagerly awaited activity of the fall season is the annual Senior-Senior-Mid game. Each team mans her key players for this game of vim, vigor, and vitality. But at the end of this exciting climax the Mids topped the Seniors 3-2, the beginning of a friendly rivalry.

DANCING

The Dance Department under the direction of Miss Mary Elizabeth Delaney is quite active during the year, furnishing dance specialties for the traditional Halloween, Valentine, and Washington's Birthday dinners. In addition Miss Delaney presents a student dance recital in March giving the dance in such forms as: ballet, toe, tap, plastique, modern, and national. Several of the advanced students appear on programs in town throughout the year, including majors: Elizabeth Reynolds and Joanna Schenck.

The entire student body, with the exception of the high school and college seniors, participated in the May Day program. All costuming, staging, and music is under the direction of Miss Delaney, and the entire performance was most spectacular.

BASKETBALL

The winter gym schedule is always crowded with line-ups and game times. Enthusiastic backers cheer for their own teams, and no game is lacking in laughs and good times.

The Tri K Club kept the basketball cup on their mantel for another year after playing a brilliant basketball season. Their team had what it takes to make champions—the spirit, the coach, and the players, such as Jean Whitson, Mary Lena Faulk, and Joy Roberts. Competition was not lacking, however, as the T. C. Club battled them in the finals with much force.

BOWLING

Whiz! Bang! Smack! If you have heard a terrible noise, it isn't thunder, a blast, or an earthquake—it's just a W.-B. lass striving for a strike. But whether the balls went straight or curved, whether the scores were high or low, these ambitious girls kept working for the perfect form and accuracy of such "professionals" as Margaret Morrow, Bunny Lawler, Katherine Durham, Ann Marshall, and Martha Quinn.

Chalk another strike up for Morrow

Every club enters four girls in the annual bowling tournament, and only the four clubs with the highest scores advance to the finals. This year it was a "fight to the finish" between the Aristons, Eccowasins, Penta Taus, and X. L.'s, but the Aristons came out on top to keep the cup for another year.

SWIMMING

In spite of wet hair, chapped faces, and weary muscles, Ward-Belmont swimmers were ready for the swimming meet, which was held in full spray with dives, relay races, form strokes, and general excitement. Such "mermaids" as Connie Martin, Jean Buttorff, Harry Cary, Twila Comer, Pris Waite, Gail Slack, Charlotte Naiden, Nancy Hornaday, Katherine Durham, Doris Green, and Betty Rutland kept the water churning as they offered keen competition to one another.

The swimming meet this year might well have been the Olympics, considering all the records that were broken. The total club points made the Pentas Taus the winner by a large margin, and they received the deserved cup.

Skillful playing and hard work won Justine Winn and Dorothy Wooten semifinal honors. Mary Lena Faulk, Tri K, was victorious in the finals over Ann Marshall, Eccowasin.

A very successful spring doubles tournament climaxed the year. Gail Slack and Jean Buttorff won out over Jean Whitson and Mary Lena Faulk to capture the doubles plaque for the Agora Club.

ARCHERY

Stance, aim, and position are the essentials of good archery, and hitting the bull's-eye (not to mention the target!) is not so easy as it might seem. Long hours of practice are necessary to acquire real skill, but the motto of all budding Robin Hoods is "try, try again." By following the dictates of this old proverb, Peggy Freeman, Dorothy Keene, Mary Lou Phelps, Shirley Hunt, Susan Scheib, and Carol Cannon became bull's-eye specialists this year.

GOLF

A perfect ball straight down the fairway is the aim of every golfer. The beginners continually strive for this "ideal" drive, but such advanced students as Regina McGeorge, Nancy Hollingsworth, Charlotte Hamburg, and Mary Lena Faulk need only the opportunity to demonstrate their perfected shots.

BASEBALL

"Take me out to the B-A-L-L-G-A-M-E" is the song everyone is singing in the spring. Being the only team sport at this time of the year, competition between clubs and classes is plenty keen. Baseball fans got a real thrill when the "spunky" Aristons beat the T. C.'s. Displaying skill on the baseball diamond is that all-around Mary Lena Faulk, Priscilla Waite, Rose Mary Neal, Mary Jean Hoffman, Martha Quinn, Dorothy Wooten, Jane Dury, and Betty Lee Tarbet, who always manages to create excitement.

"Slugging" their way to the semifinals were the X. L.'s and the Penta Taus, while the Tri K's and the Eccowasins battled it out in the finals with the Tri K's winning the hard-fought game.

Agora Club

In the middle of every campus activity you will find an Agora girl busily at work. This versatile club has gone far this year under the capable leadership of its striking president, Beth Meade, backed by gracious Mrs. Marguerite Gordon. The vice-prexy, Barbara Kemper, is always willing to lend a supporting hand when needed. The monetary affairs of the club, as well as those of the Senior Class, have been handled efficiently by Ann Rees.

The club has proved its scholastic ability by winning the Scholarship Cup for the fourth consecutive time with the encouragement of Bonnie Friedman, Hood and Gown member. Such girls as Rosemary Neal, Jean Buttorff, and Martha Wynn are listed among the top-ranking athletes in school. Agora tied with Tri K to win the riding cup and excelled in swimming, hockey, and basketball. Mary Jane McCoy has served as an able president of the Spanish Club this year, and Ruth Evans has been a competent associate editor of Hyphen.

Sincerity, humor, and loyalty denote the Agora spirit—a spirit which holds high the Agora tradition.

A. K. Club

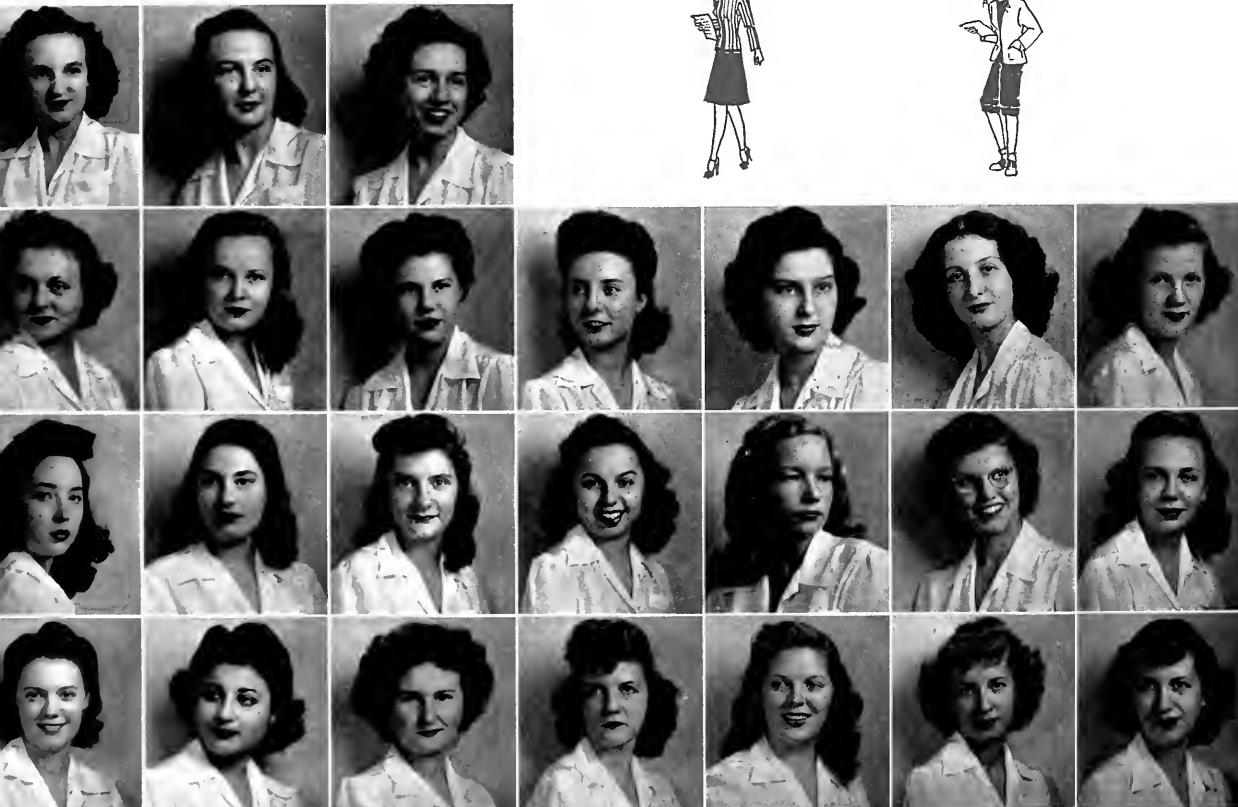

The 1945 calendar at the A. K. clubhouse has been filled with trips to Melrose and West End, slumber parties, and dances with Smyrna officers. Led by versatile Nancy Kellogg and "let's-have-fun" sponsor, Miss Gertrude Schroer, the A. K.'s have been in all activities this year.

In sports the basketball team, with stars "Mat" Matheny and Marjorie Malen, reached the semifinals; and "Sister" Goodman walked off with the cup at the fall riding show. Their open houses and Saturday night "shuffle parties" are as much fun as the girls themselves—and what a grand bunch they are: "Genomie" Paul, singing scatterbrain and business manager of MILESTONES; Pris Bailey, editorial editor of Hyphen; first-rate musicians, Molly Shanks and Dolores Leibrock; and the two merry madcaps, "Horace" Hosmer and Katherine Tipton.

A loyal and cooperative group such as the A. K. Club is a definite asset to W.-B., as the popularity of the club and its members testifies.

Angkor Club

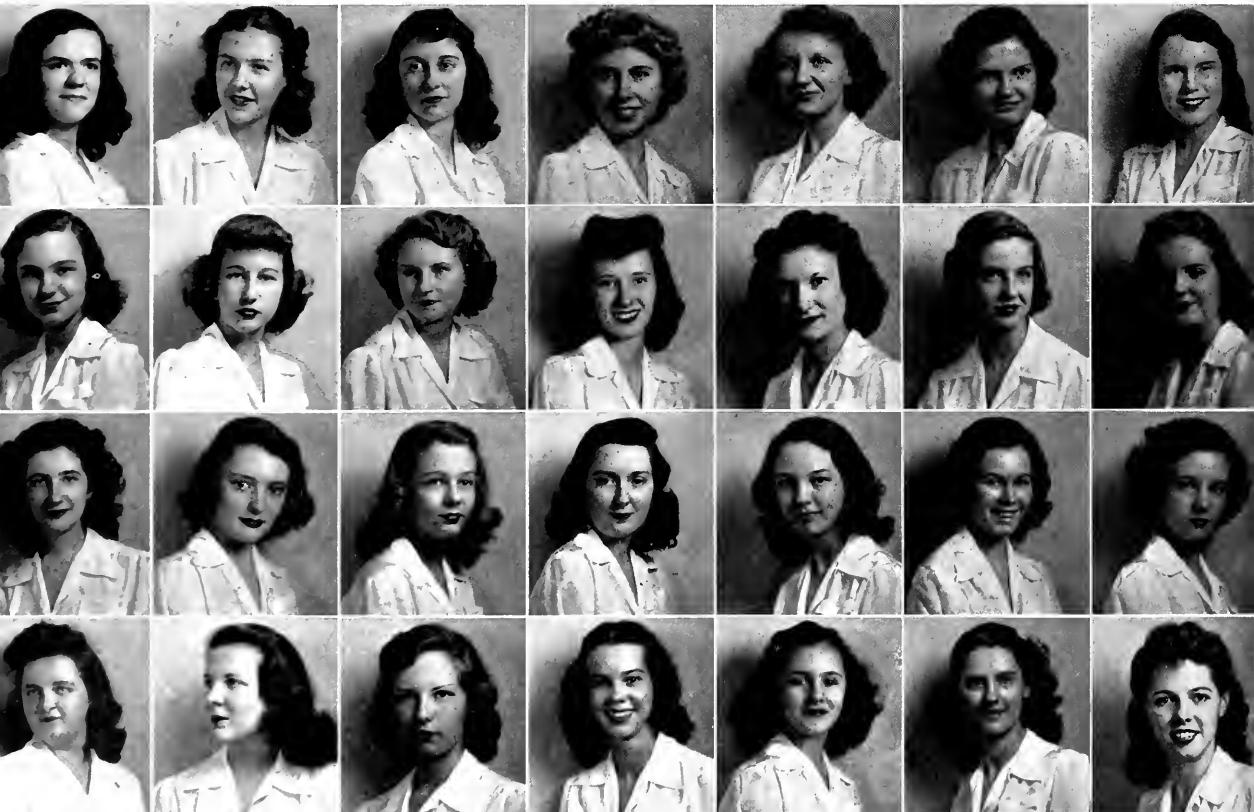

With charming Martha Baird as president, the Angkors had another successful year. With her delightful sense of humor and her pleasing manner, Miss Martha Ordway has been an excellent adviser.

Among the outstanding athletes were Arlene Hastings, Frances Ragland, Lillian Cornelius, and Patsy Cummings; Justine Winn merited special distinction in this field as a member of tennis varsity. 'Round about the campus various Angkors could be found holding prominent offices; among these, Katherine Manier, member of Chimes staff, and Jean Ward, president of the Sophomore Class.

The Angkor Club has been active in every school activity, and this group of girls is another in which Ward-Belmont can take pride.

Anti-Pandora Club

With gracious Emily Smith as president and Miss Nell Hill as sponsor, the Anti-Pans have made this year one long to be remembered. Open houses, slumber parties, and the Valentine dance honoring their sister club are typical Anti-Pan social successes.

In athletic activities Les Scharff, Meg Grant, Betty Jackson, and Marilyn Farmer starred, while Mike Fleming, Mac Watkins, "Poo" Dupont, and Sis Kilpatrick raised everyone's morale with their vivacity. The grade point average was helped by Hood and Gowners, Nelle Ring and Bette Pierce. Peggy Freeman, editor of Chimes, exemplified the literary talents of the club; and artists Harry Cary and Pat Cooley drew for Hyphen and Monuments. Music was well taken care of by Imogene Vogel, Lois Hindman, and Clarke Webster.

The talent of its members combined with their loyalty and enthusiasm for all activities make the Anti-Pans one of the most all-around clubs on campus.

Ariston Club

When you meet the vivacious Connie Williams on the campus, you understand why the Aristons proudly boast of their capable president. Her ability plus the inspiration and companionship of their sponsor, Mrs. W. H. Mann, and the spirit of each member form an unbeatable combination.

Once again the Aristons won the bowling cup with Margaret Morrow high scorer of the team. Jane Youmans, Peggy Faulkner, and Juanita Reeves were other outstanding athletes. Betty Bruce Cate and Billie Jean Hailey were among W-B's "most beautiful," and other Aristons were represented executively by Marge Hargrove, vice-president of the Senior Class, and Betty Bruce Cate, president of the Junior Class.

Through such group activities as the annual picnic and the ABC contest, by loyalty and willingness to cooperate at all times, the true club spirit was instilled in each Ariston.

Del Vers Club

Spirit, achievement, and cooperation typified the Del Vers Club this year under the able leadership of their energetic sponsor, Miss Margaret Fuller, and prexy Louise Jewett.

Shining on the athletic field were Fox, Agree, Phelps, and Godell, while scholars Pat Windle and Mary Ruth Hale took care of the classroom honors. Then there was always "Edie" Williams and Joy Gifford to keep things lively even at club meetings. Around the campus Del Vers are well represented: Lita Stecker and Mary Emma Hunt, outstanding students in the conservatory; Betty Simpson, chapel proctor; "Holly" Hollingsworth, president of the Round Table Club.

Club social activities included slumber parties, a faculty picnic, informal dinners, and then the grand finale, an all-school "frontier" party in April.

The energetic Del Vers have followed true to form this year, making the D. V. Club as always one that W.B. is proud to call its own.

Eccowasin

Through the years that lie ahead, the Eccowasins of '44-'45 will look back and say, "That was a year to remember." The club ranked among the highest under the leadership of capable Jane McCall and with the guidance and understanding of Miss Louise Saunders. An air of friendliness and team spirit are factors in making Eccowasin a club its members are proud to claim.

Choose any field and the Eccowasins have the girl for it. Red-haired Catherine Dyer and Judy Cain topped the Honor Roll, while Jane Dury, Martha Quinn, and Dorothy Wooten starred on the athletic field. Among the outstanding office holders were Mary Ellen Coverdale, day student proctor, and Marilyn Morrison, president of the Beta Club.

Every member has some characteristic or talent that is a credit to the club, and together the girls have set a fine standard for the next year. This is the record that keeps them cheering for the green and white.

Q. Q. Club

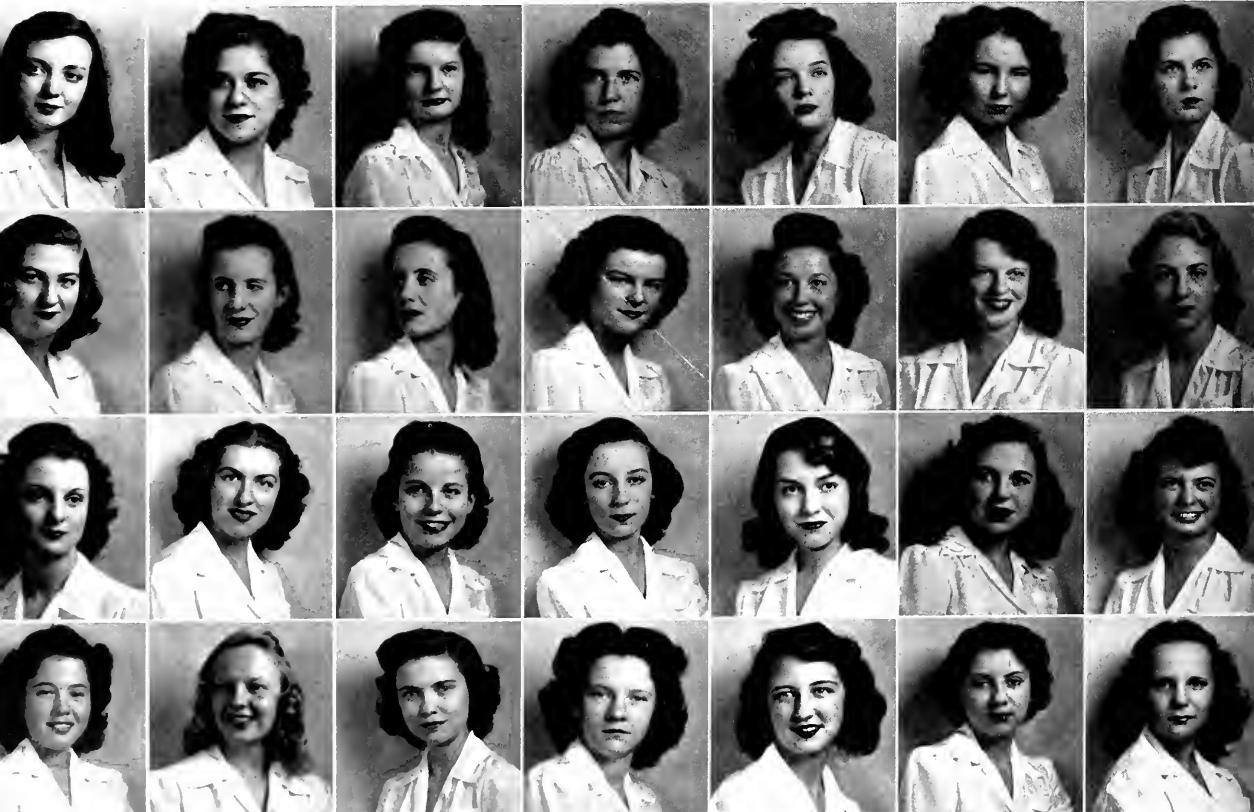

From the very first tap of her gavel, "M. J." Seddicum started the F. F.'s on a year of success and accomplishment combined with fun and frolic. Their ever-helpful sponsor, Miss Martha Lee, was ready at any time to give the boost which would mean success.

Talent was evident in no small degree with Helen Keith and her harp, Dottie Keene, Elaine Humphreys, and Susan Ijames at the piano, and smoky-voiced Johnny Johnson. Scholastic fame was claimed by Phi Theta Kappa member, Jane Knabe. F. F. also had its share of executives with "Em" Barnes, president of Preparatory School Student Council; Lucy Richards, Pembroke proctor; and "Junior" Weinstock, proctor of Heron Hall. Jeanne Harper and the Furey twins were starring athletes, and Claire Bissell was known for her writing talents.

Slumber parties, trips to Melrose, and the companionship of club sisters will be the things by which each F. F. will remember this great club year.

Osiron Club

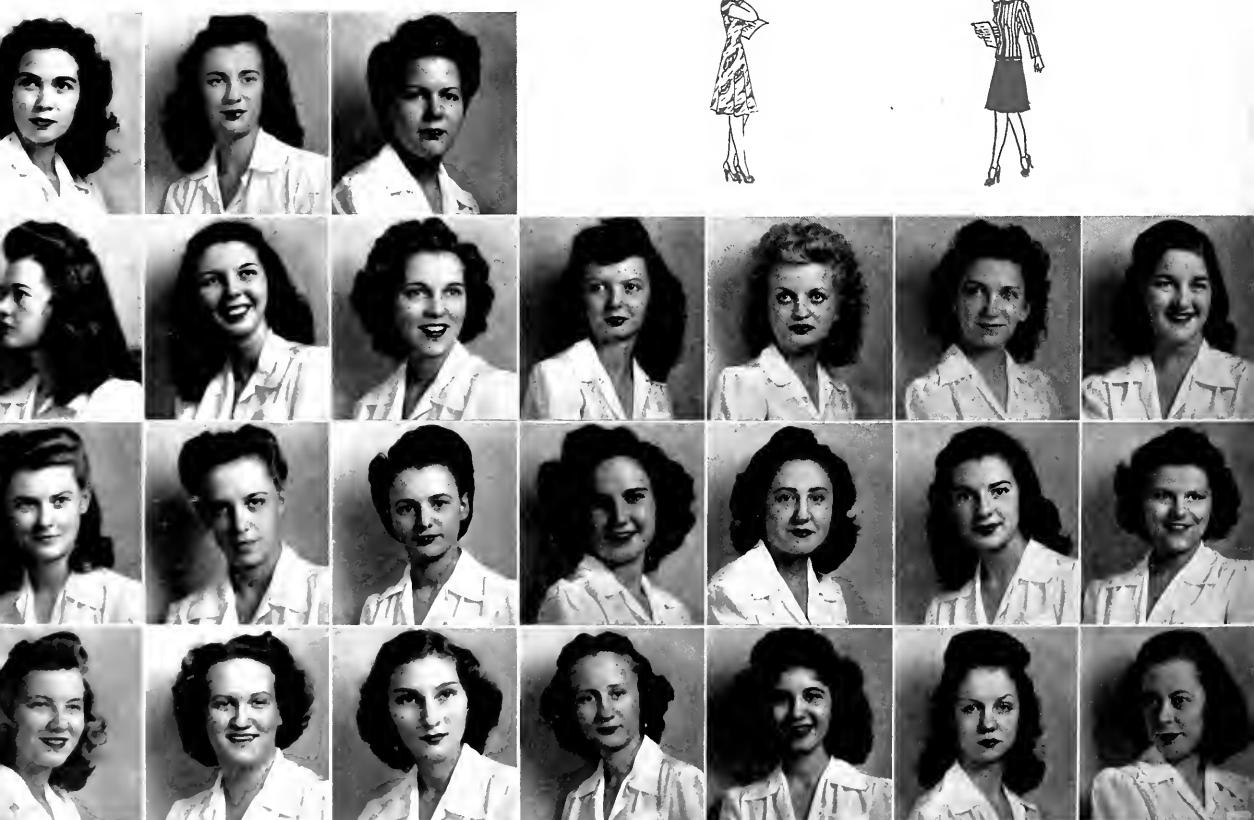

This year the Osiron Owls, with the president, Barbara Aldridge, and beloved sponsor, Mrs. Lona Almond, have lifted the green and white to new heights of success.

Sports were represented with stars "Buzzy" Parker and Betty Tarbet in hockey, Vera Mew in basketball, and "Skeets" Meaders in riding and bowling. The talents of the club were organized into shows presented at Thayer Hospital. Among the outstanding performers were Barbara Ping at the piano, Martha Pittman's singing, and Dorget Hall's dramatics. The club boasted three members of Hood and Gown: Nelle Sellers, Anne Warnock, and Betty McGhee. Anne, president of the Y. W. C. A., was also Martha Washington.

The Osirons will never forget the smiles, jokes, and fun they have had this year; and their associates will never forget this wonderful group of girls.

Penta Tau Club

A group of cooperative and spirited girls, President "Gina" McGeorge and Sponsor Miss Margaret Shannon have combined this year to make the Penta Tau Club an organization upholding the high P. T. standards and adding much to the school.

With such capable athletes as "Gina," Scheib, and Doris Green, the Penta Taus won both the hockey and swimming cups, while "Ernie" Morris was one of the school's riding stars. Outside of athletic ability the P. T.'s had plenty to offer. "Sandy," "Rich," and Scheib—president, vice-president, and secretary of the Student Council—represented student government; and Bunny Lawler, editor of the Hyphen, held up the publications' side. Talented "Twill" Comer added much to school entertainments with her dancing and singing.

There's always fun at the Penta Tau house, from "Fruit Basket Upset" to the ever-popular bridge. A swell bunch of girls, the P. T.'s will be back on campus next year to help make Ward-Belmont an even better place than it is already.

T. C. Club

Led by the ever-popular president, Mary Jean Hoffman, the T. C. Club strove to greater heights this year with Miss Newhall as its helpful sponsor. The Twentieth Centurites gained fame in athletics with the aid of Eaddy, Durham, and Shriner in hockey and Wright, Phillips, and Waggoner in basketball. Mary Jean led her club, not only in supervision, but also in all sports. Delly McCann represented the T. C.'s as leader of the Captivators and secretary of the Senior Class. Margaret Wallace was always dependable as secretary of the Y. W. C. A., while Shirley Jeanne Hunt held down the vice-presidency of the Athletic Association and chapel proctorship.

T. C.'s will always remember Fag Day and the enchanting hula girls, the showboat party for their sister club, the basketball finals, and the constant merriment and good fellowship that prevailed throughout the year. Witty Eaddy, talented Schoff and Liz Reynolds, and merry Underwood—all joined in with the others to hold high the honor and ideals of the T. C.'s so that purple and white will always signify a club of accomplishment.

Triad Club

The Triads have enjoyed another wonderful year under the leadership of versatile Jane Haynes and the encouragement of understanding Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, sponsor.

Both Emmie and Milbrey Jackson and Annella Creech made basketball varsities this year, upholding the Triad athletic reputation. Other outstanding Triads on the campus were Helen Elizabeth Keith, president of the Junior-Middle Class; Monica Joy, president of the Day Student Council; and Dakie Caldwell, day student proctor. Among the intelligentsia Carol Bay, dramatist and writer, and Ruth Dale Goldsby were members of Phi Theta Kappa.

Basketball, bowling, and hockey have been occasions for the Triads to cheer for their red and white, enjoying every minute of it. Looking back on the weekly meetings, the song sessions, and the All-Club party at Christmas, each member will have something to treasure and remember as being part of life at Ward-Belmont.

Tri K Club

W.-B. applauds loudly the accomplishments and abilities of the Tri K Club during 1945, and the club members themselves cheer for their charming president, Gloria Watkins, and their loyal sponsor, Miss Catherine Morrison. Slumber parties, bowling at Melrose, the faculty tea, and faculty-student breakfasts highlighted the social season; additions to the considerable collection of trophies testify to a very successful year in athletics.

The three K's upon the club shield, which are symbolic to all members of fun, sportsmanship, and loyalty, might well represent the members themselves.

K is for Kompetent; such as King Battey and Joy Roberts, the Senior and Senior-Mid prexies; the unbeatable basketball duo of Jean Whitson and "Florida" Faulk.

K is for Klever; such as Fay Maples, editor of MILESTONES and her busy assistant, Carolyn Buie.

K is for Kute; such as each and every one of the grand girls that make up the Tri K Club.

X. L. Club

"Friends, friends, friends we will always be." This is the feeling maintained by each X. L. toward fellow club members and toward all girls on campus. Popular Lyn Dresser is known by all for her flair for laughter and ability to hold high the ideals of the club. Miss Catherine Chambers, gracious and helpful sponsor, is ever ready to aid in all club matters and give advice to every girl.

The standards of good sportsmanship and team spirit for which the club is well known have been carried on by June Wilson and Josie Bryan, members of the Athletic Association. Pris Waite is known for her outstanding riding ability and as president of the Turf and Tanbark Club. X. L.'s also excel scholastically, as Jane Braley and Donna Hanneken are members of Phi Theta Kappa. The trio of dancers, Mary Hornbrook, Emma Laura Hulsey, and Harriet Farwell, have entertained at many campus affairs.

The fun-loving and dependable X. L. girls are well liked by all, and they will never forget the many gay times had at the club and their close bond of companionship.

FAG DAY

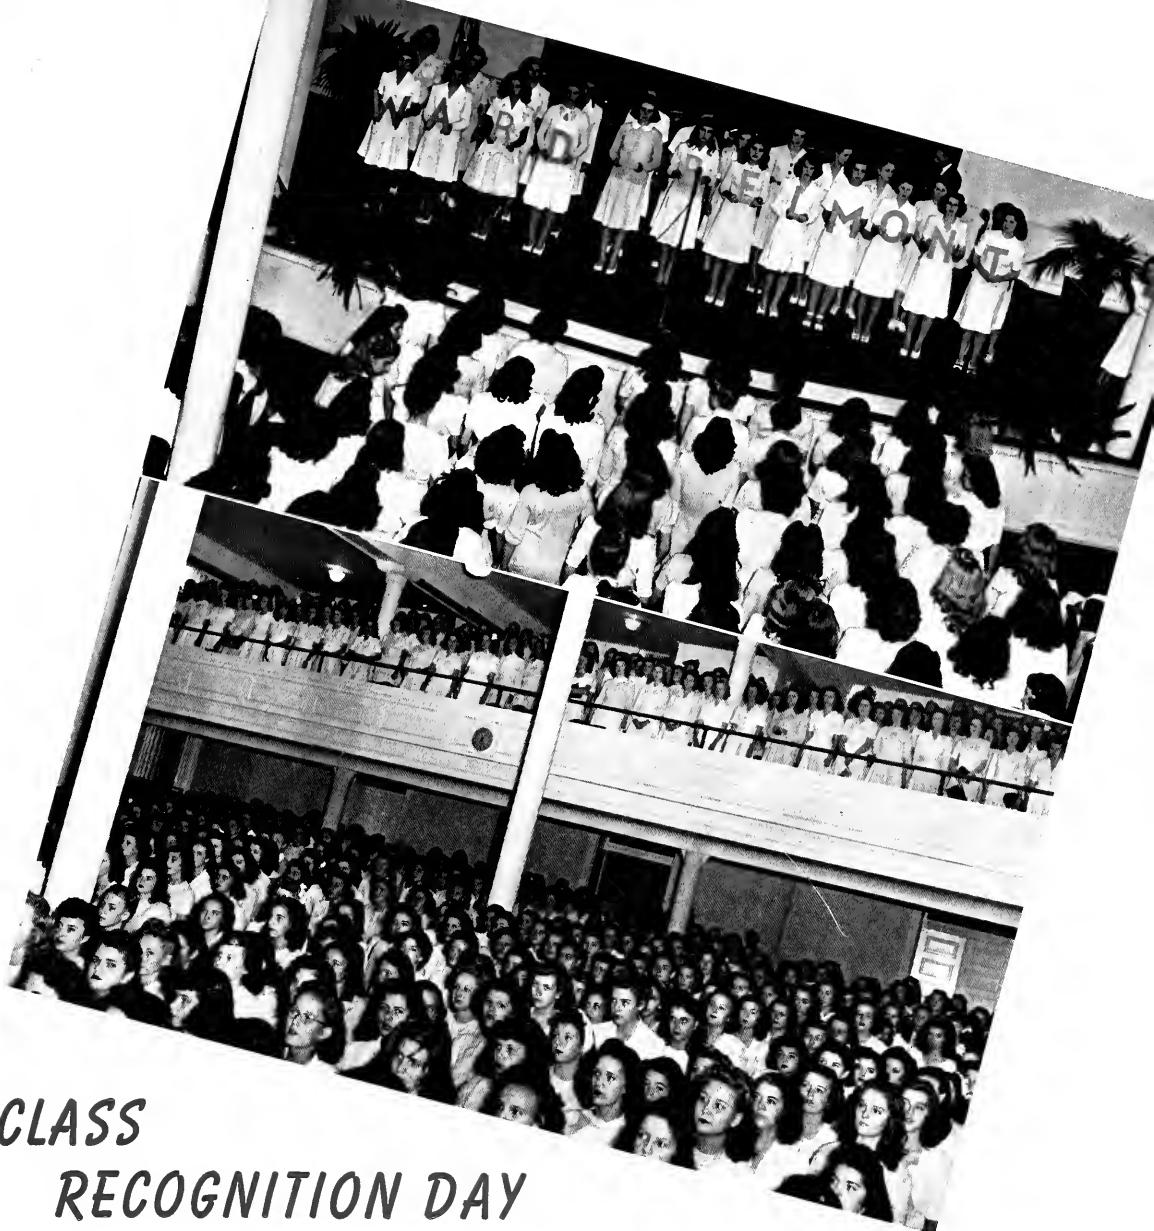

"Make that bed!" "Sweep that floor!" New girls feel like the subject of "Ole Man River" when they appear at the door of a big sister early in the morning. The occasion for all this drudgery is one of the most hilarious of Ward-Belmont traditions, the day when the new arrivals on the campus are known by no other name than "Fag" and go through a period of informal initiation prior to becoming members of the individual social clubs.

The campus looked as if the circus had just come to town this year. The merry din of the P. T. circus band was heard between the chant of "I'm an Agora elephant" and the braying of the Tri K donkeys. The T. C. hula girls added the Hawaiian touch, while the X. L. babies were on display as "wonder children."

Weary but jubilant fags rushed to breakfast only to find they were fortunate to receive water and a dry crust of bread from the hands of the staid club members. And so Fag Day ends, and busy minds are fiendishly plotting how they will retaliate by making the newcomers "jump" next year.

CLASS RECOGNITION DAY

Among the treasured ceremonies which constitute Ward-Belmont traditions is the impressive Class Recognition Day ceremony, observed at the conclusion of Senior Week. On this occasion each class renews its loyalty and devotion to the school.

The procession proceeds from Acklen Hall to the chapel, each girl following behind her individual class banner. After the opening formalities, Miss Mary Rachel Norris, founder of Class Recognition Day, delivers a stirring address, reminding the students of the high standards and ideals which Ward-Belmont has long maintained. A presentation of the letters of WARD-BELMONT is then made to a representative and sponsor of each class and organization on the campus. Each letter stands for some phase of the scholastic or spiritual attainments that these students are seeking.

It is truly beautiful when the entire student body joins in making the pledge, symbolic of the best within young womanhood: "To transmit this school not less but greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

PARTY FUN

Ward-Belmont certainly never misses an occasion to celebrate. The gym was in a constant Saturday night uproar with people dancing to the juke and even doing a bit of basketball practice, but the unusual parties can be "chalked up" among the most gala occasions.

After weeks of rain, the "Y" entertained with a "Stormy Weather" party. Everyone had a glorious time dancing, gorging on cokes and doughnuts, and applauding Belle and Twila's own "Apache Dance a la Grable," Johnny Johnson's torchy "Chloe," and Phyl Harrison's inimitable "Stormy Weather."

The Interhall Party was the usual riot of cheers, streams of crepe paper decorations, and exciting games of table tennis, volleyball, and basketball. The Senior Sunbeams of Pembroke yelled and played their way to victory over the other unfortunates. However, all ended with good fellowship and—FOOD. (Need we say more?)

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

String music, hooped skirts, and stately Acklen Hall once again takes on the appearance of an eighteenth century drawing room to celebrate the birthday of one of America's most distinguished forefathers. Marilyn Fleming as a dignified George and Anne Warnock as a demure Martha lead the Seniors in the graceful steps of the minuet before the admiring eyes of underclassmen and guests.

SENIOR-SENIOR- MIDDLE EVENTS

The climax of class competition in sports was Senior-Senior-Middle Day held on April sixteenth. Despite the rain, activities went according to schedule after the Mids announced the rain was only Senior propaganda.

During the traditional parade, the Middles portrayed well-known characters of Mother Goose . . . everything from "the old woman who lived in the shoe" to "Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater." The Seniors enacted the cavalcade of American historical events, ending with the appearance of the "Big Four" allied leaders.

The Seniors won the baseball game against pouring rain and good competition. They also won the archery by a close margin. After hard fighting and many duckings, they totaled up the highest number of points in water polo.

Picnic plans but not the spirits of the two classes were altered when the celebration was held in the dining room. At the conclusion Dr. Burk awarded the coveted cup to the Senior Class.

May

The high light of the social year at Ward-Belmont is the spectacular May Day celebration, a never-to-be-forgotten occasion in which every student participates.

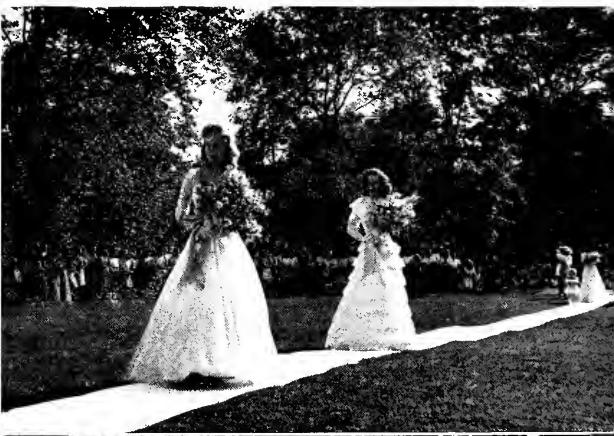

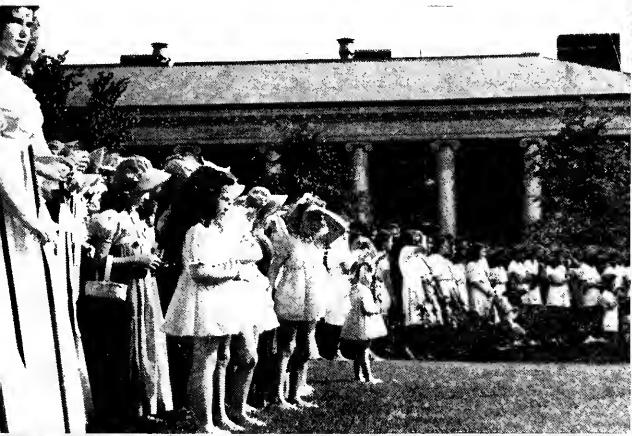

The stately and colorful procession was led by the club standard bearers, followed by the High School Seniors, dressed in traditional white. The College Seniors, in pastel shades of green, yellow, blue, pink, and orchid, preceded the entrance of the queen and her attendants.

Day

A hush of expectancy came over the audience as the white flower decked carriage containing May Queen, Lorell McCann; College Maid, Lucile Andrews; and Preparatory Maid, Maxie Dickinson, approached. Standing before her throne, the queen graciously received her crown of roses under the admiring eyes of her court and spectators. After the crowning, dancing on the lawn was in order for the remainder of the afternoon. Thus the most festive occasion of Ward-Belmont traditions is brought to a close.

Graduation

May twenty-ninth and the phrase from the Senior Song, "And though we must part from each other some day, as Seniors have parted before," becomes a reality. As each Senior of the Class of '45 receives her coveted diploma, she is looking back over the fun and laughter, companionship, work, and possibly a few tears that have comprised her life at W.-B.

For the final time this class is united in body, but the feeling of fellowship and affection will follow each girl as she continues activities elsewhere.

This class has gained much from its alma mater, but in return it has contributed high standards and devout loyalty. "The glorious spirit of old '45 will linger forevermore."

Step Singing

Perhaps the most long-remembered tradition of Ward-Belmont is the Step-Singing Ceremony that takes place the Sunday night before graduation.

Before a background formed by the stately pillars of the Academic Building the Seniors bid a formal farewell to their school, faculty, and the girls who are to succeed them as next year's graduating class.

Then the Senior-Middle Class take their places to pay respect and tribute to the girls whose places they are soon to fill.
